

Stafford Services Advanced Practice Nurses collaborate with your medical team to improve quality of care, clinical outcomes and patient satisfaction.

Advanced Practice Nurses (APNs) enhance and extend the services of physicians. They are specially trained and licensed to diagnose and treat chronic and acute conditions. On-site APNs can visit patients more frequently, monitor status and changes more closely and make timely clinical interventions, reducing unplanned hospital readmissions.

APNs focus on comprehensive, personalized care. They listen, counsel and guide patients to make informed choices. They educate and advocate for families. And they work seamlessly with the medical team, ensuring continuity of care.

As a result, organizations with APNs tend to increase patient satisfaction and reduce cost of care.

STAFFORD SERVICES

For Holistic Quality Care

QUALIFIED PROFESSIONALS, COMPETENT CARE

Stafford Services Advanced Practice Nurses (APNs) are Nurse Practitioners and Clinical Nurse Specialists with graduate degrees and advanced clinical training. They are nationally certified in their area of specialty and practice.

APNs provide preventive and primary care in collaboration with a facilities attending physician. Among the many skills and services they offer, they can:

- Diagnose, treat and monitor acute and chronic conditions
- Assess, monitor, and respond to the patient's status and changes
- Order, perform and interpret diagnostic tests
- Prescribe medications and treatments

Advanced Practice Nurses emphasize patient-centered care that's personalized and comprehensive. Their holistic approach enhances the patient's experience and extends the physician's ability to provide continuous quality care.

APNs collaborate with physicians and the interdisciplinary team to:

- Help ensure the plan of care is implemented and the physician's protocols are followed
- Serve as a clinical liaison between the physician, patient and team
- Educate and counsel patients, families and staff
- Advocate for the patient and family
